WORK OF IOWA LEGISLATURE.

Anti-Pass Bill the Most Important to Become a Law.

Des Moines, Ia., April 7.-Statewide primary, anti-pass legislation, educational board of control and a twocent fare bill were the chief matters of importance before the thirty-first general assembly of Iowa, which concluded a session of almost three months during the afternoon.

Only one of these measures was enacted into law, this being the antipass bill, which as passed by both houses and signed by the governor, applies to all state and federal officers in the state. It becomes effective July 4. The chief contests of the session centered with the state-wide primary bill and the measure providing a separate board of control to take charge of the affairs of the three state. educational institutions, the state university at Iowa City, the agricultural college at Ames, and the state normal school at Cedar Falls. Both measures were defeated.

At the closing session a committee was appointed to investigate the insurance companies of the state.

BOYCOTT PLAYED OUT.

Discrimination in China Against American Goods About Ended.

San Francisco, April 7.-The boycott on American goods in the Orient is broken. Tourists, business men and Chinese who arrived during the day on the liner America say it is only a matter of time when the discrimination against wares from this country will disappear.

A. S. Lambert has just established a mint for the imperial Chinese government in Honan province, in the very heart of the empire. He says there is practically no discrimination against American goods in that province or any of the small places that he visited.

Ten Persons Injured.

New York, April 7.—Ten persons were injured by a series of explosions in sewers in the neighborhood of Fiftyfirst street and Eighth avenue during the evening. The recurrence of these explosions, this being the fourth time they have occurred in as many months, created much excitement.

PEACE NOW ASSURED

TROUBLE IN SOFT COAL FIELDS OF WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA BROUGHT TO AN END.

NEARLY ALL THE INDEPENDENT OPERATORS WILL GRANT DE-MANDS OF MINERS.

Pittsburg, April 7.—Peace is now as sured in the miners' situation so far as the soft coal fields of Western Pennsylvania are concerned. The organization of the independent operators who were holding out against granting the advance demanded by the miners at a meeting during the evening decided to give up the struggle and will sign the scale. All those at the meeting were representatives of operators who had bound themselves not to sign the scale. A number of other members were wavering as to entering the agreement. These latter were not present, but it was assured that they, too, would sign upon learning of the action of the meeting.

Peace and quiet now reign throughout the bituminous coal fields, where Thursday the miners refused to work. The change is attributed to the arrival of delegates from the district convention, who explained the situation to the miners. All danger of further trouble is thought to be over and by Monday it is asserted every mine will be in full operation.

The Pittsburg Coal company reported that of the eighty-one mines operated by it, the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke company and the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal company, but four are idle. One of these is undergoing repairs. Chairman Francis L. Robbins said:

"About 30,000 men are at work and not more than 2,000 employed in our colleries are idle. They will probably resume in a few days. Thursday we had twenty mines idle."

Patrick Dolan and Uriah Bellingham, the deposed president and vice president of the Mine Workers' district organization, are still in possession of the headquarters and records. Frank Feehan, the newly elected president, met with the executive board to advise as to the legal steps for the recovery of the headquarters, but no conclusion was reached.

OFFER TO ARBITRATE.

Soft Coal Operators of the West Submit Proposition to Miners.

New York, April 7.—Interest in the labor troubles in the anthracite regions was overshadowed during the day by the proposition that came out of the West for the arbitration of the differences in the bituminous fields. The offer of the soft coal operators is identical, except where the term bituminous is substituted for anthracite, with the one President Mitchell presented to the hard coal operators here Thursday. There was considerable speculation as to how the miners' leader would receive his own arbitration plan for another field. Within an hour of the receipt of the offer from J. H. Winder, head of the Ohio soft coal operators, Mr. Mitchell sent a reinternational executive board of the union at its meeting in Indianapolis literary ability, and he jokingly replied, "I admire it very much."

Leaders of the miners' union did not think the international executive has sought safety in flight and Bosco board would favor the proposition. A member of the board said that conditions in the soft coal region differed ing with fright, carried a statute of widely from those in the anthracite | Saint Anne as near as they could to fields. He pointed out that many operators had already signed the 1903 scale and that the number was increasing each day.

Nothing has developed in the anthracite situation to indicate clearly what the outcome of next Monday's meeting mine owners and the union leaders feet in height, the glare lighting the will be. It was reported that the arbitration offer would be flatly refused, but it was denied that any decision had been reached. It was reported also that the operators might accept arbitration with a different tribunal.

Striking Miner Killed.

Greensburg, Pa., April 7.-John Wessell, a striking miner, was shot and killed at night while going from his home to an outbuilding. It is not known who fired the shot. Wessell, it is alleged, had promised to go to work. The shooting has created great excitement.

Using Hay for Fuel.

Britt, Ia., April 7.—As a result of the coal strike, the Britt Light, Heat

WILL GIVE DOWIE A FAIR TRIAL Overseer Voliva Says It Will Be Without Prejudice. Chicago, April 7.-In an interview during the evening General Overseer Zion City, said that when the former DECIDE TO SIGN THE SCALE leader of the Christian church arrived he would be accused of the following: Extravagance of the most shameful kind, misrepresentation, exaggeration, mismanagement, polygamous teachings in private, tyranny, injustice and indiscretion.

Dowie will be treated fairly, according to Overseer Voliva, and will be given every opportunity to reply. "At the meeting of the 250 ecclesiastical officers of Zion Thursday night everything said and done Sunday was reviewed," said Voliva. "Dowie's right as a suspended leader to try to wipe away the accusations that have been piling up against him was granted and we decided that he should be tried before am ecclesiastical court. This court will be fair and just and the trial will be open and without prejudice. The newspapers will be permitted to have representatives present. All charges will be formally submitted in Dowie's presence and he will have an opportunity to answer. He will be given all the time needed but lawyers will not be allowed to appear for either side, as the proceedings will be purely ecclesiastical."

Voliva stated he had abundant proof to substantiate everything that had been charged against the deposed leader of Zion.

FRANTIC WITH ANGER.

Dowie Threatens Retaliation on De serters of His Cause.

San Luis Potosi, Mex., April 7. Full of unholy anger at the way things are going in Zion City, uttering frantic denunciations of Overeeers Granger and Voliva, threatening vengeance and retaliation towards every deserter of his cause, and renouncing both his son and wife for their wavering in the hour of need, John Alexander Dowie reached here during the evening.

He is apparently in the best of health, eats heartily and seems in every way vigorous enough to make a fight for his rights when he finally arrives in Zion City. In the meantime he is storming like a caged lion.

LEAVE THEIR HOMES

INHABITANTS OF VILLAGES IN VI-CINITY OF MOUNT VESU-VIUS IN FLIGHT.

Naples, April 7.—The inhabitants of the villages in the vicinity of Mount Vesuvius are almost in a panic. Many homes have been abandoned for the open air although there has been a thick fog all day and the atmosphere has been dense with volcanic ashes and gases from subterranean fires The churches are crowded day and night with people praying for deliverance from an impending peril, manifestations of which are heard and felt in explosions and in the constant tremblings of the earth.

The main stream of lava proceeding from Vesuvius is 200 feet wide and it advances at times at the rate of twenty-one feet a minute, the intense heat ply that he had no power to act on the destroying vegetation before the proposition but would submit it to the stream reaches it. The peasants of Portici, at the west foot of the volcano, cleared their grounds of vineyards week after next. Mr. Mitchell was and trees in the effort to lessen the asked what he thought of Mr. Winder's danger from fire and resisted the progress of the lava to their utmost. The population of Boscotrecaz, on the southern declivity of the mountain, Reale to the eastward, is also threat ened. Women of this village, weepthe glowing lava, imploring a miracle to stay the advance of the consuming stream.

The cemetery at Boscotrecaz has been invaded by lava. The scene at night is one of mingled grandeur and horror as from the summit of Vesuvius between the sub-committees of the there leaps a column of fire fully 1,000 sky and sea for many miles. Occasionally great masses of molten stones, some weighing as much as a ton, are ejected from the crater.

The village of Torre del Greco, which has been eight times destroyed and as often rebuilt, is again threat-

Stricken With Pneumonia.

St. Louis, April 7 .- Dr. C. A. Snodgrass, health commissioner of St. Louis, died during the day of pneumonia. A week ago he completed a paper on the causes and treatment of pneumonia, which he was to read before a society of physicians, and half an hour later he was stricken with the disease.

HUNGARIAN CRISIS SETTLED.

Long Controversy Brought to a Satisfactory Conclusion.

Vienna, April 7.—After fourteen months of controversy between the throne and the coalition parties, the Hungarian crisis finally has been setwith the result, which appears to be a compromise. The news of peace is received with rejoicing. The compromise, which came unexpectedly, was due chiefly to the efforts of the coalition party, which feared at the last moment the advent of a period of absolutism, which was inevitable if the elections were not held before April 9, as prescribed by the constitution. The Fejervary cabinet welcomed the overtures of the coalition and thus an agreement was speedily reached. Hungary can now return to her normal political existence.

The elections will be held within the proper time and parliamentary government re-established; the crown will get the recruits wanted for the army; funds for military service will be voted, and the customs tariff and commercial treaties will be ratified by the Hungarian parliament. The commercial union with Austria is assured

Francis Kossuth, the coalition leader, declared himself satisfied. He said the result was not a victory for either party. He announced that he would not enter the cabinet but would remain the leader of the independence

Count Apponyi also will not enter the cabinet. Count Andrassy and Herr Kossuth during the day had an audience of Emperor Francis Joseph and afterwards conferred with Premier Fejervary. The emperor approved of the proposal that Alexander Wekerle be entrusted with the formation of a new government. It is expected that the appointment of the new minister and the proclamation of elections will be officially announced April 8.

TO MANUFACTURE FUEL FROM PEAT

M. K. Swartz Would Like to Have Company Organized for New Industry

WILL TAKE ONE-THIRD OF STOCK

In Corporation with $10,000 Capital-Fair Grounds Buildings Suitable

M. K. Swartz is agitating the proposition of manufacturing fuel under the new process from peat. He offers to take one-third of a capital stock of $10,-000 to be invested in the business. There are large bodies of peat on the old fair grounds that are excellent material, the buildings are already erected and would be suitable. The land lies right alongside the main line of the Northern Pacific railway and so the question of transportation would be practically solved, as side tracks could easily be run direct to the buildings. He has made some investigations into the matter and finds that with that capital stock a plant could be put in capable of making twenty tons of fuel a day and leave sufficient working capi-

REFUSES TO AGREE TO VOTE ON THE RAILWAY RATE BILL IN THE SENATE.

WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCE

SEVERAL SENATORS DISCUSS RATE LEGISLATION WITH THE PRESIDENT.

Washington, April 7.-In making an effort during the day to get the senate to agree upon a date for taking a vote on the railway rate bill, Mr. Tillman made the important statement that one week more probably will exhaust the general debate. He failed, however to secure the consent of Mr. Aldrich, who said that he would not agree to vote on the bill until it is more nearly perfected. During the day there were three speeches on the measure. The first was made by Mr. Elkins, who, while saying that the situation demands legislation, indicated many defects in the bill. Mr. Gamble followed in support of the bill and Mr. Kean closed in opposition.

Mr. Elkins was frequently interrupted and several spirited colloquies marked his remarks.

SENATORS SEE ROOSEVELT.

Conferences on Rate Regulation Continue at the White House.

Washington, April 7.-Railroad rate legislation again was under discussion during the day at the White House. Senator Rayner of Maryland had a conference, by invitation, with the president. The nature of the conference was not disclosed.

Senator Rayner expressed the opinion that a rate bill, satisfactory to the friends of the legislation, would be passed by the senate and perhaps by a much larger majority than expected.

Following Senator Rayner Senators Allison of Iowa and Nelson of Minnesota discussed the rate situation with the president. They declined to discuss the subject afterwards.

DEBATE IN THE HOUSE.

Several Interesting Subjects Under Discussion.

Washington, April 7.—Tariff, railway mail subsidy, denatured alchohol and enlarged postal facilities for Western cities were the features in the debate in the house during the day. What were alleged to be the iniquities of the Dingley law, so far as the manufac ture of watches is concerned, were discussed by Mr. Rainey (Ill.), whose tariff revision speech was listened to with much interest. The so-called "stand patters" made copious notes for the discussions on protection, which are foreshadowed.

FOR FIVE MILLION DOLLARS.

Mayor Weaver of Philadelphia Institutes Suits. Philadelphia, April 7.—Civil proceedings were instituted during the day by the city against the contractors and former city officials interested in the construction of the municipal filtration plant to recover $5,000,000, which sum is alleged to have been wrongfully retained by the defendants. A bill in equity was filed by City Solicitor Kinsey and Former Judge James G. Gordon, Mayor Weaver's private counsel. Those named in the bill are Israel W. Durham, former Republican leader of this city; State Senator James P. Mc-Nichol, Anastasia McNichol, his wife; James J. McNichol, John J. Mack members of the contracting firm of Daniel J. McNichol & Co.; William C. Haddock and Peter E. Costello, former directors of public works, and John W. Hill, former chief of the filtration bureau. The prayer is sworn to by Mayor Weaver.

The bill is in the form of a paper book of more than 4,000 pages and contains the history of the filter plant contracts, setting forth in detail the mass of evidence that has been gathered to show that the city was defrauded.

FRANK M'VEY CAPTURED.

Escaped Murderer Taken Into Custody by Farmers.

Hayfield, Minn., April 7 .- Frank McVey, confessed murderer of Marshal Ole Havey of this city, who escaped from the Mantorville prison on Thurswater prison for life, was captured at night by E. B. Scripture, a farmer, who lives between this city and Dodge

Mrs. Scripture went out to the barn to gather eggs about 6 p. m. She saw something move under the hay of the loft and at once went out and called the hired man and several neighbors.

McVey surrendered without a struggle. He was hatless and his clothes were torn to pieces.

Mr. Hubbard, one of the neighbors who helped capture McVey, had been a member of the grand jury which indicted him. He identified the murderer at once.

Murderer Executed.

Sacramento, Cal., April 7.-George C. Easton was hanged at Folsom state prison during the day for the murder of Charles Horrigan at Dixon, Nov. 21, 1904.

LEGALITY OF LEGISLATURE.

To Be Attacked by Liquor Dealers in Ohio.

Cincinnati, April 7 .- An attack on the legality of the present legislature is the main point in legal proceedings to be started by the National Association of Liquor Dealers in an attempt to overthrow the temperance legislation enacted during the session just closed, according to Dudley Wayne, attorney for the Brewers' exchange. The famous artists in the Sartorial world. attacking brief will allege that Lieutenant Governor Harris prevented a full and free expression from the senate when he declared the Aiken bill passed and that the local option bill prevents opportunity for free expression by elective franchise. It is proposed to take the case to the supreme court direct.

SOME SIGNIFICANT FEATURES.

Show the Excellent Condition of Trade and Industry.

New York, April 7.—Bradstreet's weekly review of trade says real spring weather, which has stimulated trade, except in a few sections still affected by heavy rains and bad country roads, and excellent, in fact, almost ideal winter wheat situation, a little more animation in the iron market. continued activity in nearly all lines of inquiry, heavy railway earnings, increased bank clearings and the surprisingly little adverse effect of the coal mines partial shutdown, are the significant features presenting themselves this week. The rush of spring jobbing is now about over, but improved retail demand has already evoked some reorder business and encouraging reports as to enlarged orders for fall delivery present themselves. All kinds of light summer wear goods are active and strong in price. Dry goods, milinery, shoes, clothing and farm implements are marked features at retail, while in wholesale lines, the demand for lumber, hardware, paints, glass and other materials bears witness to the present record rate of building.

Low shoes of all sorts have grown to be such favorites that many women wear them the year round, using high boots or spats only in extreme weather. Many of the prettiest ones are in "Pump" form cut very low and the hosiery is very much in evidence. SPRING COATS.

The separate coat for wear with different costumes is in unusual demand this year, owing to the great number of fancy frocks that are worn. These call street wear, and to protect them if they are worn driving or motoring, or in those short journeys in or out of the city that everybody makes in festive attire from time to time. The most substantial and useful of the new outer garments are of cheviot in diagonal mixed weaves, often with an overplaid that forms wide cress-bars of a delicate contrasting color. These are threequarter length in loose sacque shape, and when there is a colored bar in the material the trimming of the cuff and tailored collar matches this line.

 SEEDING PROBLEMS :

+ + + + Some Interesting Information on Three Important, Though Minor, Northwestern Crops.

+ + + + By Chas, H. Thornton, Publisher 🕏 Duluth Commercial Record.

Among growers of grain in the three Northwestern states the question of durum (macaroni) wheat undoubtedly exceeds in interest all others.

This is natural, from the fact that its future as a dependable, profit growing cereal, based upon its real worth as a staple product for the Northwestern farmer, is still to be demonstrated. What is it worth? What is the real truth as to its milling value? How much more will it yield per aere than fife or blue stem? What are the export prospects this coming fall and winter? etc., etc. All these questions, and many more, have been fired at the writer during the past ninety days, especially the last one, referring to Explicit or complete answers cannot be given, but a review of the crop years of 1904-5 and 1905-6, with other facts of present knowledge bearing on the subject will undoubtedly prove of value to the Northwestern farmers in permitting them to arrive at independent conclusions.

The well known facts about durum wheat are that it was imported and fostered by the United States agricultural department for semi-arid regions of the Dakotas and other Western states, but that it will grow and produce a good yield in sections of normal or abundant rainfall was evidenced by the crop grown last year in localities favored by a rainfall more than nor-

What the final result of continued sowings in sections of excessive rainfall and its bearing on the quality of durum would be has not yet been demonstrated, but that heavy soil and excessive rains are injurious and deteriorating in their effects, to a certain extent, goes without question. Its adaptability for such sections and under such conditions has never been advocated by the agricultural department. While the full effect upon the quality of durum wheat grown in different localities and under different conditions has probably not been determined to anybody's satisfaction, there is a question about the foreigner's desires in the matter of quality, and this point must be strongly emphasized. They do not want anything taken anything but No. 1 this year, could enough of it have been fur-On the present crop Duluth has handled eight million bushels and Minneapolis about one million bushels, other than what was reshipped to Duluth. Practically all of the durum received at Duluth has been sold for export, and the remarkable feature of it, at the present time, is that durum wheat at the seaboard is selling for export at prices better than can be obtained for spring wheat in the same position, and is in good demand. If this demand keeps up until the opening of navigation it is probable that durum at Duluth will be selling even poorer than No. 2, and would not have grades of spring wheat. All the causes that have contributed to the extraordinary demand for durum are hard to analyze at this time, coming more or less as a surprise to the whole trade. It was said to be due to a shortage of Russian wheats of the same quality, but this can hardly hold good, as Russia has been a very large shipper of wheat ever since last August, with no suggestion of a shortage of any kind.

with or higher than the corresponding

It was also intimated that it was being used exclusively for making macaroni, this being assumed because of the fact that the Mediterranean ports were the largest users of it, although there is room for doubting that any such quantity of wheat is used for Whatever the reason for the demand, it seems likely that it will continue to sell in the world's markets at very close to the price of other wheats. On March 2 the price of Russian wheats and durum was identically the same in European markets, 95 to 98 cents per bushel. Durum has come to stay, and must be reckoned with hereafter among our permanent wheat crops of the Northwest. If domestic mills refuse it, the demand abroad will no doubt continue to absorb our surplus to the detriment of our other wheats. As regards its yield over other wheats there is no question but what it has the advantage by from three to eight bushels per acre, all conditions considered.

The only suggestion that the writer would make is that when seeded in sections enjoying an average rainfall of twenty to thirty inches it should be put on the lightest soil to be found, on the hills and not in the valleys or low lands. Insist on seed that is absolutely free of other wheats, and if possible to obtain it use nothing but No. 1 durum.

Flaxseed.

Owing to the low prices prevailing for flaxseed last fall there seems to be a tendency to cut it out, and in this the writer believes a mistake will be

The comparatively low prices at which the last crop was marketed were not due to the size of the crop itself, but to the fact that the accumulated reserves carried forward from the large crops of 1902 and 1903, which had been artificially held off the market, were released, and did more than anything else to depress the price. These reserves, with the crop of 1905, mounted to about 10,000,000 bushels hore than the country's annual conimption, but with export sales and an enlarged domestic demand the entire load has been well absorbed, and by the time we can harvest another trop will be pretty well out of the way.

The world's situation on flax is very strong, stronger than at any time since 1901, and with nothing in sight to make it weak.

Europe's principal sources of supply, Argentine and India, are both short in their crops; Argentine with a shortage of 23 per cent compared with 1905, and with barely 50 per cent of the crop of 1904; the Indian crop is just being harvested, and it is known that the drouth at seeding time worked material damage to the crop. The final crop figures, which will be published next month, will show a great shortage compared with 1905, and this in turn was only 60 per cent of the 1904 crop. Argentine will not start shipping on another crop until next January, and India will not harvest another crop until March of 1907.

Aside from the foreign situation, the domestic outlook, of Itself, is strong enough. Consumption is increasing materially every year, and last year's crop would have been barely sufficient to supply domestic demands. It will be remembered that the crop of 1905 was exceptional in its large average yield per acre, and it does not seem possible that its average yield can be again duplicated this year. The area in 1905 was much more than it would have been were it not that the spring season was so exceptionally favorable to a large area of everything. With the rapid settlement of the far western part of North Dakota, the large new breakings of the past three or four years are no longer available for flax, and the trade will hereafter depend on the product raised from smaller fields, the twenty, forty or eighty-acre fields of scattered farms.

The writer has followed statistics on flaxseed since it first became a prominent crop in the Northwest and is firmly of the opinion that the 1906 fall prices for seed will be higher than they have been before in five years and much higher than at present. Should an accident of any kind occur to any considerable part of this year's American crop the world's statistical situation is acute enough to bring about extravagant prices.

It is a well recognized fact that flax cannot be grown continuously on the same field owing to the disease known as flax wilt. It can, however. be grown continuously on the same farm by so rotating the crop as to bring flax on each field but once in seven to ten years.

Flax requires a good soil, as it is not a strong feeder, and it does very well following corn or a grass crop. any grain crop. In fact, there is no more fertility removed by a crop of barley. Flax is undoubtedly a valu- vance guards of approaching civilizaable crop as a small portion of the tion. total grain crop raised. The average yield in money value per acre has been in the past larger for flax than for wheat. It also has the advantage of requiring a shorter time to mature than other grain crops, thus making it possible to sow flax considerably later in the spring, which is quite often an advantage.

Barley.

Barley seems to be the tabooed crop of the Northwest, yet there is so much good that can be said in its favor as a paying crop that I have been surprised at the treatment accorded it by many farmers. The usual way has been to sow it after everything else was in, or after it was too late to sow other crops, and to harvest and thresh it when time could be spared. If a crop is obtained, well and good; if not, charge it up to Providence. This is entirely the wrong view to take of barley. There is no cereal grown in this country that pays better if properly cultivated and cared for. Many farmers do well as it is and if barley can be raised profitably in the old slipshod way there is no gainsaying that if cultivated on scientific principles the average yield could easily be increased five to ten bushels per acre and the quality advanced from 25 to 50 per cent, thus making the cultivation of this cereal second to none.

Barley should never be cut until it is full ripe, as unripe barley is of no value except as feed. Harvesting should always be done in dry weather and, if possible, the harvested crop should not be exposed to rain or heavy dew. If fully ripened and reasonably free from weeds barley can and should be stacked as soon as cut and permitted to sweat in the stack; between cutting and threshing unless stacked is the time when the greatest damage is commonly done.

When threshing from shock it should be stored in dry bins and watched carefully that heating does not occur while sweating; it should never be sent to market until after it has gone completely through the sweat, for when in a heating condition it is unfit for malting and worth only the price of feed. Close attention must be given that it does not get musty. This condition is very easily tested by experts and prices are reduced accordingly. Farmers should understand this if they desire to make their raising of barley profitable After it is once damaged no amount of care will restore it to its natural usefulness. Sow pure seed of one distinct variet; and plenty of it; mixed varieties wil. not malt evenly together and will not bring top prices.

In view of the excellent demand last tall for export barley and the large amount shipped abread, together with the present outlook for future prices, I am led to believe that there are bright prospects ahead for farmers who bestow a little care and attention upon the cultivation of this cereal.

A RUSH FOR BAD LANDS

Farmers Settling Once Desolate Tract In South Dakota.

FLOCKING TO IT BY THOUSANDS

Railroads Crisscrossing Black Hills Country Open Up Most Fertile Soil to Growth Consequent on Government Irrigation-Land on River Bottoms Needs Little but Seed to Raise Immense Crops.

Prophecy made eighteen years ago regarding South Dakota is now in process of fulfillment, says a special dispatch from Deadwood, S. D., to the New York Herald. The grinding of the mills of the gods may be slow, but it is unfailing. In 1888 the Herald printed an article from Deadwood, S. D., concerning the opening up of the great Sloux reservation and setting forth the benefits to be derived from such an action. As the white man stands today upon the topmost peaks of the Black Hills and surveys all the improvements that have been made he recognizes that the day of fulfillment is at hand.

At the time of the opening of the Sloux reservation in 1888 it was the general opinion that the only way into the Black Hills country for the railroads was across this tract between the hills and the Missouri and that the promised land could be entered only by crossing this Jordan, so long impassable. The reservation was opened and rights of way were granted to both the Chicago and Northwestern and the Chicago and Milwaukee railroads, but no building was done. But now rails are being laid across the old reservation ground and there will soon be direct communication between the eastern and western parts of this great state. Hitherto they have been more widely separated than if they had been separate states, and while as the crow files it is only 180 miles from Deadwood to Pierre, the capital of the state, yet by rail the journey consumes more than forty hours.

The Chicago and Milwaukee road is now building westward across the old Indian lands to the hills, and the Northwestern is following suit and looking for a chance to trump, if possible. At Evarts the coast line crosses the Missouri river, and at Chamberlain the Black Hills road crosses and has already built west ninety miles. The Northwestern is working on contracts covering eighty miles of grade. So fast are settlers rushing in ahead of the proposed lines of these roads that it is impossible for the railroads to keep It is no harder on the land than is pace with them, and the proposed line of march can be determined miles ahead by the farmhouses and other flax than by a crop of wheat, oats or improvements rising overnight as ad-

> This old reservation land, lying between the hills and the Missouri river, is almost surrounded on three sides by Indian reservations. It is composed partly of a peculiar geological formation known as the Bad Lands, a broken, tagged, unproductive tract of land where wonderful fossils are found and where the Indian when in trouble was formerly wont to flee. There are, however, in this section immense tracts of the richest of land, and settlers are coming to it by thousands. The land on the river bottoms needs practically nothing but seed to raise immense crops, while to the land upon the uplands water must be brought in order to make it productive. Down in the valleys the grass grows to the height of a horse's sides.

Much of this land is what is known in the west as gumbo land, one of the greatest objects of hatred known to the pioneer and to the man making new trails. It is a black clay soil with wonderfully adhesive qualities. Gumbo is a stuff of strong individuality. It is like nothing else. Two strips of land lie side by side; one is average good soil, and the other is gumbo. The rainfall that is sufficient to obtain good crops on the average soil does not make the slightest impression on its neighbor. It is a veritable Kentucky colonel, with the exception that when it once becomes water soaked it retains the habit. Irrigate it, and you have then the richest land imaginable. And this is the land formerly despised, sneered at and considered to be of no value whatever.

The United States government has spent much money of late years in reclaiming hitherto arid tracts of land. One of the largest irrigation schemes on hand now is that in Butte county, South Dakota. This county lies in the extreme northwest corner of the state, just north of the Black Hills and northwest of the old Indian reservation. Local farmers and stock raisers have been forced to pump and irrigate and have as a result raised not only very fine cattle, but magnificent crops of hay, alfalfa, wheat and sugar beets.

But although the farmers themselves nave commenced irrigating on a small scale, yet thousands of acres of land remain unreclaimed, and it is for the reclamation of this vast area for the benefit of the prospecting settlers that the national government commenced work on this project.

Locomotives as Fire Engines.

The Reading railroad is having some of its shifting engines equipped with fire apparatus so that they can be utilized in case of an emergency, says the Buffalo News. With a pressure of 140 pounds of steam a stream of water was thrown a distance of fifty feet and did effective work. Each engine will have two sections of hose fifty feet each. This is carried in the rear of the tank. A seven-eighth inch nozzle is used. The tank of this locomotive has a capacity of 6,000 gallons.

CLOSED DEAL

Brainerd Mining Company Takes Lands South of Town on Which They Held Option

DRILLING ON SECTION SIXTEEN

Consider Prospects Sufficient to Justify Closing Deal on Lands

That there is iron south and southwest of Brainerd is apparently demonstrated by the work of the Brainerd Mining company. This company, which is composed of Mr. W. C. White, of Duluth, and Judge Holland and R. R. Wise, of Brainerd has had a drill at work for some time on section 16, Crow Wing township. In speaking of the results of this work to a DISPATCH reporter Mr. White said:

"We have so far demonstrated the property that we have closed the deal for all the property that we think contains iron."

In speaking of the iron formation Mr. White talked very entertainingly of the geological aspect of the iron deposits in this section. The iron he considers is of an aqueous origin. That is it was held in solution and precipitated to the bottom of an inland sea which geologists believe to have once covered this section. This prehistoric sea, which they have named Agassiz Sea, was thus underlaid by a heavy deposit of iron. In the course of ages, after this deposit had hardened, convulsions of nature broke and tilted the starta so that the ore, in narrow veins is of great depth, perhaps in to the thousands of feet.

This ancient sea was underlined by what is termed bench rock, and when the strata originally lying under the bench rock is found, or even the bench rockitself, before striking the vein, mining men know that they are the wrong side of the titled strata or vein and no matter how deep they go there is no hope of iron. This vein of ore on section 16 is what is known as the south projection of the Cuyuna range.

As to the quality of ore found, Mr. White states that while ten years ago Bessemer ore of less grade than 60 per cent iron was not considered merchantable, today ore assaying 52 per cent is rapidly snapped up. When asked if the lower grades of ore would became valuable in time he said that unquestionably in a few years ore as low as 40 per cent would be merchautable.

When the Gogebic range was opened up twenty years ago they sought the higher grades of ore and are now using the lower grades then rejected.

WANTS FULL PARDON

FOR IRON LANDS Wm. Boivin, Sent From Crow Wing County for Highway Robbery in 1899. Wants Full Pardon

> Judge Blewitt goes to St. Paul to appear before the board of pardons Monday in behalf of Wm. Boivin. Boivin, in company with a man named Landry, was convicted in March, 1899, in district court here, of robbing a fellow lumber-jack named Snyder of about $80, while all three men were more or less intoxicated. Both were convicted and Office will be Moved Sometime in each sentenced to 10 years in Stillwater. Landry got his sentence commuted to eight years and Boivin was paroled April 16, 1904.

Boivin now asks a full pardon that he may take up a homestead. He has been working since his parole, for a farmer in Aitkin county. The application for pardon is approved by Judge Holland, before whom the case was tried, and by F. S. Alderman, who was county attorney at the time and presecuted the

The Exhibits are Drawing Large Crowds Both of Pupils and Patrons

Every seat in the high school room was full last night and many contained stand during the entire entertainment. 25c.

Every number on the program received hearty applause several being encored. The singing of the pupils showed faithful work on the part of Mrs. Dial, the instructor and painstaking effort by the pupils themselves. A large number of people gathered early and spent the intervening time examining the exhibits. At 8:15 the audience was called to order and the program rendered as given in last night's DILPATCH. After the program some time was spent by many in further examining the exhibits and exchanging comments on the entertainment. Everyone complimented the work highly.

In its mention of the exhibit yesterday THE DISPATCH credited the work of Gustaf Gustafson and Jennie Kazariasen to Miss Sayles' room when it should have been credited to Miss O'Grady's

This Wall Paper Ad is no Common Wall Paper Ad.

This ad means a saving in dollars and cents to you.

Signs of spring are on every hand: the merry sound of the carpet beater is heard in the land; the thrifty housewife is busily engaged in airing the house, cleaning the furniture and making plans for spring housecleaning in all its details. A great many discoveries are being made at this season of the year, that either the parlor or the dining room, or the hall, or perhaps one or two of the bedrooms need new wall paper.

Nowhere in the northwest is there a display larger, more comprehensive, tastier, or more moderate in price than what this establishment has provided for the public in the wall paper line.

We can suit every taste, every demand and every pocket book.

Prices range on this splendid new stock of wall paper from 5c a roll and upwards. We do not make an extra charge for borders, they sell for the same price as the wall paper itself.

Our salesmen are efficient, polite and painstaking, and will deem it a pleasure to exhibit samples of this splendid stock for your inspection.

Do not fail to call on us and examine our line of Wall Paper.

BRITISH FORCE RETREATS.

Natal Insurgents Drive Colonial Troops Into City of Greytown.

Greytown, Natal, April 6 .- The colonial field force which was concentrating at Impanza, twelve miles northwest of Greytown, for operations against the insurgent chief, Bambaata, the deposed regent of the Greytown district, has been compelled to abandon its laager after heavy fighting and retire to Greytown.

A portion of the force sent to rescue the women and children isolated at Keates Drift succeeded in so doing but while returning was attacked by rebellious natives. A running fight was kept up for six miles, the Zulaz continuing the pursuit until within a mile of Greytown. Three of the colonial police were killed and several were wounded. The remainder are safe at Greytown. The police report that the rebels are in strong numbers and flushed with victory and the officials fear further excesses. A strong force of artillery, infantry and mounted men is moving out of Greytown to operate

CHARGES BY FIELDS

MADE AGAINST THE TRUSTEES OF THE MUTUAL LIFE IN-SURANCE COMPANY.

EMULATES JUDGE HAMILTON

LEGISLATIVE AGENT CLAIMS OF-FICIALS KNEW THE NATURE OF HIS DUTIES.

New York, April 7.—Charges similar to those recently made against the directors of the New York Life Insurance company by Andrew Hamilton were made during the day against the trustees of the Mutual Life Insurance company by Andrew C. Fields. The former legislative agent of the Mutual is in seclusion at Dobbs Ferry. He is said to be seriously ill and has denied himself to all callers. His charges are contained in a formal statement, which Fields issued through his physicians and in which he declared that the Mutual trustees well knew the nature of his duties while he was employed as legislative agent and in charge of the supply department. He says that he has come home "prepared to tell the truth, no matter whom it hurts; be his position high or

The statement, in which Mr. Fields savagely arraigned the officers of the Mutual with whom he had dealings, says among other things:

"In the firest place I never gave a bribe to anyone. I have come home prepared to vindicate myself completely. In doing so I shall let the truth which I shall speak, fall on all who it may. All of those of the Mutual who are now pointing the finger of scorn at me were aware of all I was doing in connection with legislative work and when they say that they were ignorant of the character of my work they are saying what is untrue. I am here to challenge them in every statement they may make or have

Says Records Are Not Missing.

"I have to laugh when I read the statements of the trustees that a portion of the records of the supply department of the Mutual-of which I was head—is missing or was destroyed. These trustees will have all the records of the supply department when they want them. They are not missing. As to the payments to me by Robert Oliphant, chairman of the expenditure committee, of amounts ranging from $25,000 upward and aggregating in all about $600,000, I can furnish a full and complete explanation of exactly what was done with this money and can show that every payment was fully authorized. I saved for the Mutual Life by my work at Albany hundreds of thousands of dollars and in doing so never committed a dishonest act. I do not propose that the men associated with me in the Mutual shall destroy my reputation to further their own private ends. The story about the so-called house of mirth in Albany was a gross libel. Nothing ever took place in that house, which was simply my Albany residence, of which I or any other Godfearing man need be ashamed.'

SETTLED OUT OF COURT.

Famous Schandein Will Case at Milwaukee Amicably Adjusted. Milwaukee, April 7.—The famous Schandein will case has been settled out of court. Announcement to this effect was made by Attorney George P. Miller on behalf of all parties interested in the suit in Judge Halsey's branch of the circuit court. Attorney Miller stated that while the case had been adjusted to the satisfaction of all parties concerned he requested that the case be continued until Monday next in order that the terms agreed upon may be reduced to writing. The case was therefore put over until that

The case in litigation was over the estate of Mrs. Lisette Schandein, whose property was valued at $7,000,-000. Of this amount a share estimated at $6,000,000 was left to Mrs. Clara S. Heyl, a daughter, and wife of Jacob Heyl. Most of the remainder, estimated in value at $600,000, was willed to Mrs. Ella Frank and Emil Schandein, two other children. One Man Killed and Much Property Damage Done.

Homer H. Hallock, right of way agent of the Willamette Traction company. Mr. Hallock, who was one of the best known railroad men in the Northwest, fell from a window down the light well onto the roof of the central court and was instantly killed.

The property loss is estimated at $100,000, partly insured.

The fire broke out in the parlor of the Commercial club. It is said that a lighted match, thrown into some tapestries, was responsible for the conflagration, which spread rapidly and caused a panic among the 1,500 em ployes of the 300 offices in the building. The upper works of the elevators were burned almost before the fire bells stopped ringing and panic-stricken people congested the stairs and fire

About fifteen men and women crept through the windows to the wide cornices from which they were rescued by firemen.

Tom Richardson, secretary of the club, and whose office was in the tower of the building, was cut off by the flames and forced to take to the roof. When the firemen reached him he was in a state of collapse.

TUSKEGEE'S SILVER JUBILEE.

Concluding Day Marked by Several Notable Addresses.

Tuskegee, Ala, April 6.-The third and concluding day of Tuskegee's "silver jubilee" was marked by several notable addresses, concluding with one by Andrew Carnegie.

The morning session was marked by a spirited discussion between President Cyrus Northrop of the University of Minnesota and William Lloyd Garrison. The former speaker in commenting on the work at Tuskegee expressed his interest in the education of all the people of the South.

He expressed the opinion that the enfranchisement of the mass of the negro race at the close of the Civil war was a colossal blunder. Sharp issue was taken by Mr. Garrison in a dramatic ten-minute address.

At the night session the principal speakers were Andrew Carnegie and Bishop Charles B. Galloway of the Southern Methodist church. Mr. Carnegie spoke on "The Education of the Negro, a National Interest." The very closest attention was paid the famous financier
